

What is your name?

Morena Rombolà, Event Planner

LinkedIn

Which aspect of your role you like the most?

As soon I finished my studies I knew what I wanted to do: to work in the fields of tourism and events. After working in some international structures and chains I decided to start my business in 2009.

What advice would you give someone who is starting his career?

Training (with study of foreign languages), to become professional starting from legal and tax instruments, web site and all the presentation techniques because, as Americans say, "There is no second chance to give a good first impression".
